Choosing a plan: FAQ

Which metal level is right for me?

Gold plans are a good option if you expect to need a lot more than preventive care over the course of the year. On the opposite end, Bronze plans are a good fit if you're generally healthy and don't often need care. Silver plans are a good choice for those who are eligible for cost-sharing reductions. If you're not eligible for cost-sharing reductions, a Bronze or a Gold plan may be a better fit for you.

Savings and subsidies

You may qualify for lower monthly premiums or extra savings on out-of-pocket costs if you meet certain income eligibility requirements. Here are two different ways to save:

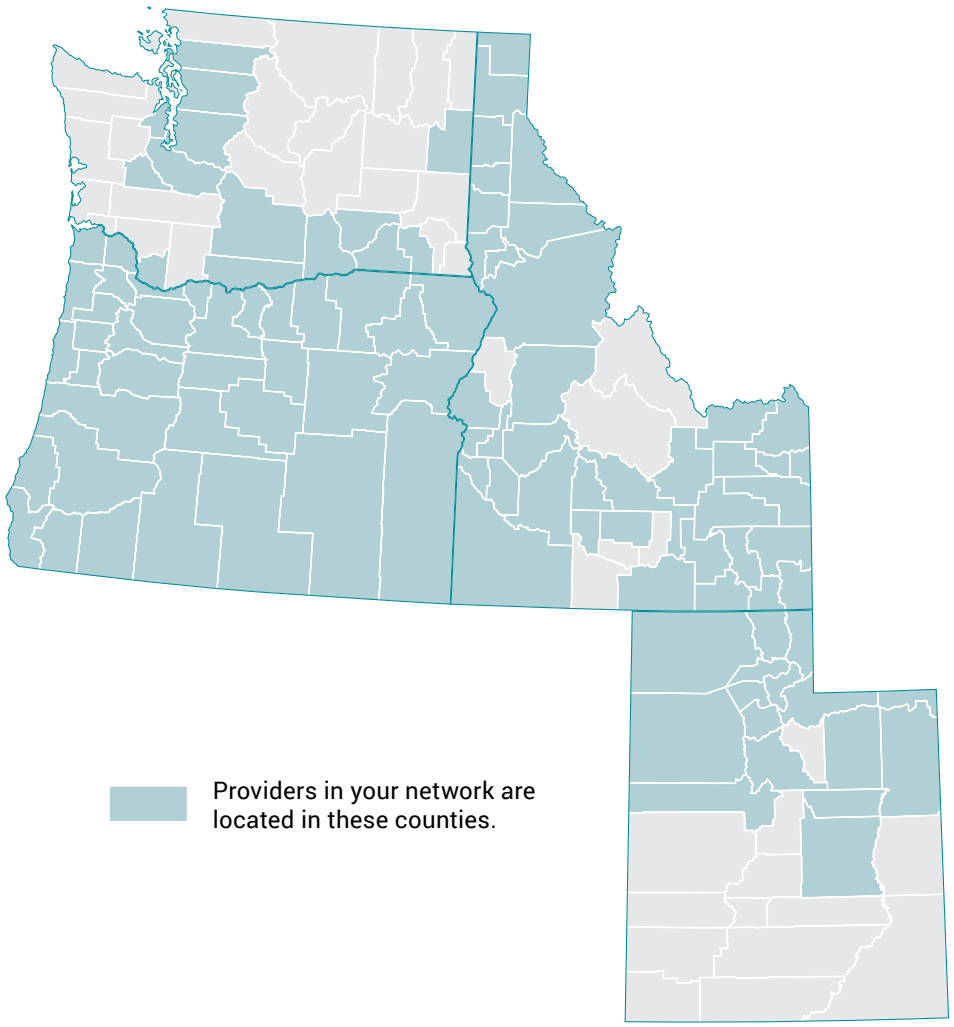

Premium tax credits help you save by lowering your monthly insurance premium and are designed to help eligible individuals and families with low or moderate income afford health insurance.

Cost-sharing reductions provide savings on out-of-pocket costs, such as deductibles, copays and coinsurance. If you qualify, you must pick a plan in the Silver category to get these extra savings.
