

Asuris 2023 Annual Overview

After more than three years, the COVID federal public health emergency ended in 2023, and Eastern Washington moved to a new chapter. At Asuris, we spent the year delivering on our commitment to making health care more affordable and more effective for the families and employers we serve.

As providers asked for unreasonable increases in the cost of care, we took a stand in contract negotiations to ensure our members didn't bear the burden of exorbitant costs while facing their own financial pressures. We saved money for our members by helping them get high-value care at the facilities appropriate for their health care needs. We improved access to care in Eastern Washington, including rural communities, by adding behavioral health providers to our network and supporting nonprofit organizations that are building a larger and more diverse health care workforce.

We and our employees supported community groups like Maddie's Place, Tree of Sharing and Second Harvest in their mission to help resilient children and families.

As of 2023, Asuris has served Eastern Washington for 90 years and counting. Through it all, we've remained devoted to our mission of keeping the communities we love healthy. Thank you for trusting Asuris, both now and in the future.
